For more than fifty years Portakabin has built its reputation based on its values and commitment to its customers. We are now one of Europe's leading providers of modular building solutions.

Quality is central to the way we operate as a business and we continually invest in facilities, technology and outstanding people in order to drive improvement. Each and every employee is responsible for Quality and adherence to our Quality Management System.

Fundamentally we are committed to:

- Providing customers with exceptional solutions, products and services
- Developing our people and processes
- Building Quality into every part of our business with a guiding principle of 'Right First Time'
- Meeting all applicable legal, product and market specific requirements
- Continuously developing the Quality Management System in order to support the company's strategic direction

This policy is used as a framework for the development and deployment of Quality objectives throughout the business

Everyone at Portakabin stands behind this policy, our values and we will always 'do what we say'
